Breaking the Plateau: How a SaaS Pivot Fueled Global Growth

The Challenge

A recently acquired software product—built on a one-off, on-premise business model—had hit a wall. With $11.5M in revenue concentrated mostly in Northern Europe, growth had stalled. Product and sales teams were pulling in different directions. The sales team and organization felt that the product was difficult to sell. Internally, it was a “high burnout, low progress” environment, where frustration and quiet fears of a permanent plateau were taking root.

Our Approach: Truth, Care, and Real Change

We refused to chase symptoms. Sustainable transformation requires understanding the entire system.

Our engagement began with deep listening—facilitating cross-functional workshops and candid conversations to surface what was hidden:

- A misaligned business model that no longer fit market realities
- Outdated pricing structures
- Dysfunction between the product, sales, and marketing teams

We guided the organization through a strategic pivot—transitioning to a cloud-based model, modernizing pricing, adding critical global talent, and co-creating a purposeful go-to-market strategy. This wasn’t just about hitting revenue targets—it was about building organizational health and resilience.

The Transformation: Building What Lasts

In just 4.5 years, the product’s trajectory shifted from flat to flourishing:

- Global Market Expansion: Entered 15+ new markets, establishing a strong international footprint.
- Sales Force Growth: Expanded from 5 to 19 team members—attracting and retaining top performers.
- Cross-Functional Collaboration: Created lasting alignment between sales, product, and marketing to drive both customer value and revenue goals.
- Support & Implementation Team Growth: Grew to provide global coverage; i.e. Europe, North America and APAC.
- Revenue Surge: Achieved a 9.07% CAGR over 4.5 years.
- Customer Trust: Added 32 new customers annually on average, now serving over 500.
- Business Impact: Created a successful model for SaaS sales.
- Star Performer: Transformed into the portfolio's star performer.
